is well worthy of a visit! It occupies a definite position in the world of sport—supplying, at the right prices, just exactly what the sportsman requires.

A stroll through the palatial store would prove an education in modern methods of trading.

Nothing is wanting—no expense has been spared—for the comfort and convenience of patrons. The full size tennis court and sports ground on the roof; the lounge and writing rooms; the hairdressing saloon and the cafe, are but a few of the many features.

The Australian Players' Lesson

The rapid rise of Soccer into favor in the last three years, and the bright prospective immediate future seems to justify the prediction that within the next decade the round-ball game will attain the distinction, enjoyed by a rival code, of being first in the choice of Sydney sport patrons.

The big boost expected from the success of the English team will assuredly materialise. Already evidence of its influence is being brought to light by our players in that keen-witted exponents are putting into practice the "little tricks" evolved during the progress of the games played in the State. The Australian team is renowned for his adaptability, and is safe to assume that the young players will be given every opportunity of showing their prowess in the representative games in the games connected with adjacent States at season or the following.

The Englishmen have demonstrated the possibilities of the game shown us the correct method of drawing defenders and attacking to an advantaged comrade. The tactics suffer in comparison with the artistry of the Britishers. Those expert ball control which Elkes, Seymour, and Hannaford have shown to thrill onlookers and encourage their attendance, with eager anticipation, at the next series of matches. The target practice of the centre forwards, first time with plenty of power behind es, and withal must be able to drive hard for goal when the ball comes flying in from an outside colleague who has outwitted an alert defence. The physique of the men appearing with Sydney clubs is not consistent with what one would visualise as the ideal for such an important position. The position calls for a master mind, quick witted enough to circumvent the attentions of our full-backs. Sydney clubs would considerably improve the standard of our club footer if those in authority would see to it that expert tuition be given to the player selected to fill this important position.

Playing for position is a feature of the Englishmen's tactics. It is quite common during a game to see a forward run into an open space and then for the player in possession to transfer with amazing accuracy for the unmarked man to dash goalwards before the opposition has realised what has happened. In club games most of our players adopt the unprofitable method of "laying on the backs," that is, if the opposition defender moves about the forward is expected to cling to him like a leech to prevent the full-back getting in his kick. This style of play is unprofitable, and does not prove a match-winner. What really should happen is that the lesson of the Englishmen should be taken to heart, and that is, forwards should endeavour to secure position themselves that when they receive the ball they are not impeded by opposition defenders.

New South Wales full-backs should imitate the tackling methods employed by the Englishmen when a player is not in possession of the ball. If this is not done, our chance of victory is minimised. The New Zealander gained a distinct advantage in the test games with Australia by exploiting this idea. The remarkable part of it is that in club games our referees are very emphatic in penalising a full-back who shoulders off a player following in a shot at goal. Yet in international games the same referees allow the incident to pass unnoticed. Why the distinction? It is the accepted interpretation in Great Britain, and as international games with England, Scotland, Wales and Ireland are sure to be played regularly in the future, it is just as well to do likewise. There is no suggestion here that such methods are illegal, but the Sydney referees should have an understanding with cognate bodies to interpret the rule the same for both club and international games.

Touching upon refereeing. The off-side rule is not apparently understood by a great number of our officials. Yet it seems simple enough, and easy of operation. Where our referees fail, and this was particularly noticeable in the Wednesday game against the Englishmen last week, is that players are adjudged off-side because they received the ball in an apparently off-side position. This happened frequently, too, in club games on the Sydney Cricket Ground, No. 2, during the last two games played there. It is not where a player receives the ball that counts, it is his position when the ball was last played. On many occasions in the games referred to—and they were different referees each time—nippy players who had moved behind the full backs, from an on-side position during the transit of the ball were pulled up, and the side wrongly penalised. Referees' association should take this phase of the game up very seriously, for nothing irritates both player and onlooker alike more than incorrect decisions. It tends to show up the game, too, and destroys those thrills which every Soccer patron is so keen on receiving.

Referees should realise the big factor they undoubtedly are in raising the standard of play and endeavour to so educate themselves in visualising the rapidly changing position of players in a fast, open game. If players are to improve, so must the standard of refereeing advance. Good referees are scarce, and there are innumerable reasons why this appertains. Remedial measures should be taken by a systematic course of lectures by men competent to deliver them, and certificates withheld from ambitious officials until they have proved themselves efficient in a practical way. Theoretical proficiency is essential, but many possessing the necessary knowledge are not temperamentally fitted to controvert games when surrounded by a large concourse of people, especially when a majority are hostile critics. Only by comparison can we estimate worth. There is no gainsaying the fact that the present set of officials have not attained, except in a few instances, the high standard in evidence during the early period of the last decade.

This is the time for constructive criticism rather than destructive, and the foregoing remarks are penned with that objective.

SATURDAY MATCH.

From the Ladies' Stand.

It seems a great pity to me that the best Australian Soccer players are not hefty lads; watching the game on Saturday made one wish that our side were not so lean and willowy. Last season there was a very weighty individual defending goals for Sydney—he filled the view, satisfied the eye, so to speak. There was, and I hope there still is, a very great deal of him, being what one would call an out-size, and I believe that, if we could field a team of his kind, we would win a match.

Still I think our men were fine. Spurway was thrilling, so were Edwards and MacNaughton. It was heartbreaking to see Cartwright disabled and rather disappointing when Masters sent Thompson to keep, because that meant that we would not see that speedy young man at work in his proper sphere. Clad in their bright yellow jerseys the goalies reminded one of canaries in cages; when the changing of goalkeeper's jerseys took place it was painful to see Thompson take off his, and to see that he had nothing underneath; no wonder he sought to shelter behind the goal-post, and his hands—the sheltering palm! You really should wear wool next to the skin this weather, Mr. Thompson. This embargo on substitutes is decidedly serious, if one of our men gets hurt, what chance have ours of knocking one of those big persons like Elkes or Hamilton out? It seemed clear to me that if we could have incapacitated Charlton or Poynton or both, we might have won the match. This dancing a tattoo on the field by a player who has the ball wearies me. I like to see the game fast and things happening; these sleight-of-foot tactics savor of skite if they come off, and foolishness if they don't.

Our men look spick and on the field, but I wish so that they would wear shorter and look the athletes that are. The Englishmen look until their shirts begin to come then they look most untidy; I suppose mere appearances do matter to these bright foot stars, and I am told by a lady mirer that they look sweet evening clothes.

I also heard one damsel exclaim to another, "Don't you think backs are just lovely. The So backs, I presume she meant."

CARTWRIGHT UNLUCKY

Cartwright's hand was cut by Batten's boot as he tried to save what looked a certain goal, and he had to be taken to St. Vincent's Hospital, where his stitches were inserted. He has been unfortunate in the last few years, having lost a considerable amount of work through injury at football. His accident at the period of the tour is a severe blow to Australia, as it will probably keep him out of the first Test.

WORLD-WIDE SOCCER

It is doubtful if any other game in the world has such an international aspect as Soccer. Today, it is played by forty different nations, all of whom are represented on the International Board. As a propaganda medium for inducing the various nations of the world, Soccer, as a game, has done much. Good friends on the field of sport cannot logically be enemies nationally. It is the aim of every visiting Soccer team to select their members from all players as those who will naturally and every other way be the best and proper persons to represent their country. The English team at present in this country is a continual advertisement for the high ethics of British sport. The present day, which is undoubtedly second to none in the world, it is from our inherent British characteristics that we in Australia have inherited our love of every kind of sport and the reputation that we are out "to win the game" for the game's sake whatever the sport may be. It always be so.

Players Kick into Touch
when Man is Hurt.

(By an Old Player).

I have not long to wait for to put on their studying in regard to the new official appertaining to the stop-of games when a player is hurt. Last week I dealt with question under the heading The Man in Charge of the game and the Referee's Opportunity. This week we go to that the players are watching for an opportunity too. At last Saturday a player was hurt. The crowd of two or three players pointed the incident out to the referee but he took no notice and allowed the play to proceed, until a defender deliberately kicked over the touch line. During the interval the player came on and said:—

"When I see one of my colleagues down in such a position, one just before the break, I am not entitled to play the ball over the touch-line to stop the play so that we can have the services of his services. Before the game, I thought for a moment and then decided that I must come to any other sensible conclusion that that he was not to do so, but as the referee is present, I cannot see what is to stop a player kicking a player dead, under similar circumstances, but at the same time we well understand the attitude of the spectators took over this incident."

Not Yet Taken Root.

The foregoing provides a bone of contention which will crop up at every match before long. Let us not meet trouble head on, but wait and see what happens. Another little matter I have heard of—a member of a team recently asked permission he could go and stand a yard away from an opponent taking a corner kick, and see what the referee would do. The suggestion was not met with approval, it was pointed out that could be done. Nevertheless I am inclined to note that we have such players, who study the rules. If the rule relative to injured players is given full scope, I have no doubt as to its value. Spectators and players will, in time, fall into line, and before the season is finished there will be very few disputes on the question.

Deal with the Time-wasters.

Players who practise kicking into touch to waste time ought to be punished. This matter wants considerable and serious consideration, and I know that Mr. John Lewis has tried to find some remedy to prevent the evil. It will be benefit to football, and kick should be awarded against the player who deliberately kicks into touch, and I think it a reasonable one. I pass it on to the powers that be for what it is worth. If it will only do one thing it will be benefit to football, and that is what we are all out for. Last Saturday week I was present at a match when a back lashed the ball right out of play. It was to gain time for his side, and he was obviously prepared to do anything he possibly could to steal a march on the opposition. If some punishment was inflicted for this sort of offence it would be for the betterment of the game, and be a means of cultivating sportsmanship amongst the players.

A Turn in the Tide.

It is immediately delightful to note that clubs, since the district scheme has been an established fact, are doing so well, clubs which last year was at the lowest ebb. It is always pleasing, and I know that it is to every right-minded enthusiast, to see the bottom dog raising itself. I was sorry for the unfortunate lot of the officials and the players. To see a first-grade game played in front of not more than a dozen spectators, and realising the finance that every club has to get, to carry out its obligations and engagements. Speaking to the president of one of these clubs, it is relieving to find a spirit of optimism, though he declared the club had had a bad time. "We shall come again, we take the good with the bad, and much as we have suffered through desertion, we feel sure that we shall have a brighter day now the district scheme has come," concluded the optimist. It is difficult to keep a district team going unless splendid support is forthcoming, but then again the district football helps them out.

The Cry for Goals.

The cry of spectators at football matches is always for goals. They want to see plenty of them, and though students of the game may point out that the mere scoring of goals does not necessarily mean that the play in consequence is good, the average enthusiast will not be turned from his desire to see the forwards having a jolly time at the expense of the defenders. Of course, partisans do not want to watch their own side fall under an avalanche of goals. They have deep sympathy for the defenders of their favorite eleven. But precious little for those of the opposition. A great part of the criticism levelled at teams is directed at their inability to oblige in the matter of marksmanship. If forwards don't seize every opportunity to get the ball into the net, their errors are pointed out in no half-hearted fashion. Not always is due credit given to defenders for foiling the attackers.

And an Answer.

However, I am not setting out at the moment to shield forwards from criticism. We know too well that heaps of good scoring chances are continually being neglected. The reason I have mentioned the matter is merely to express satisfaction that there has been a decided improvement of goals scored in the first grade matches recently. Over the past week-ends several clubs delighted their supporters by scoring either four or three goals.

I am not one of those who think a game wasted when there are not a lot of goals, but, at the same time, it is a pleasure to note that more success is attending the forwards' efforts. It does not mean that defenders are slacker; but simply that the attackers are more accurate. Defences are not always sound because they are not debited with a lot of goals, and an increase in the number of goals recorded would not of necessity mean that defences had gone to pieces. What is needed is for forwards to make better use of their opportunities and for defenders to become tougher.

REPLACEMENT OF INJURED PLAYERS.

The fallacy of the English managers refusing to agree to the replacement of players injured in the first half of the game was strikingly brought home in yesterday's game.

The ruling of Mr. John Lewis, the English manager, is obviously wrong after an analysis of the English rule bearing on the matter. It reads: "...By arrangement made before the commencement of a match (but not in a match played under the rules of a competition), substitutes may be allowed in place of injured players."

THE DISPUTE.

Between Metrop. and South Coast.

Burns, Fitzpatrick, Forrester.

By "S.E.C." in the South Coast Times."

The inclusion of the above-named players in the local teams are causing the officials of the I.D.S.A. much worry. These players are resident in the Metropolitan area, that body is taking strong exception to them going out of their ken to play down here. The case has been twice before the Council of N.S.W., and each time they were ordered to return to the folds of the Metrop. delegate Board of the I.D.S.A. placed a unanimous motion in favor of retaining their services here, and N.S.W. could do no worse. Now, the N.S.W. Council has placed a time limit on the district to refrain from placing them. What will happen? From my point of view it has been particularly bad move on the part of N.S.W. to take such a step without doubt those players done more to popularise the game down here than all the official teams; they have built teams that sorely needed it, we imagine what the game would have been if Thirroul had been up to their present standard then Coledale without the vices of Forrester, Corrimall, out young Kerr. This had been placed in the category as the above-named players if Mr. Hawke had not put such a stern fight for him. to get down to bedrock. Metropolitan has more than they know what to do with their system of treating players is crude, and will not be long. These players are dismissed out of the teams in any; the game is not any there from their exclusion on the other hand, remember the Soccer game in N.S.W. is as strong as the weakest link in the chain at present is the South Coast. the N.S.W. Council should do utmost to strengthen it, it could have been done with a small amount of tolerance. are hard, cold things, that ways applied without more or care in the objective of oftentimes drag the construction of fabrication to destruction. I say the South Coast is beginning to regain its popularity this season, through these players who brought strength into the Woonona failed this year, and Corrimall have stepped the breach, and saved the situation not only for the South Coast but the whole State.

(The N.S.W. Council has the I.D.S.A. until the 1st to accept its decision the players are M.S.F.A. players in event of failure to accept decision teams who have against South Coast team Gardiner Cup will be forfeited.—Ed.).

QUEENSLAND TEAM.

To Meet Englishmen.

The Queensland team, to mee-the Englishmen at the Exhibition Ground on June 20th has been selected as follows:—E. Owen, A.
 Burns, E. Rigby; J. White, Murray, Teasdale; Edwards, Mc-Dowell, Potts, Gibb, and Robertson. There are five Ipswich players in the team—Teasdale, Edwards, McDowell, and Potts. The remainder are Brisbane players.

BRISBANE v. IPSWICH.

Interesting "Pars." from Queensland.

Ipswich's Best Player.

"The best player on the Ipswich side was Sammy Teasdale, the left half, who gave the opposing winger, Mitchell, no end of trouble. Halls, the goalie, was not too safe; otherwise all the members of the team justified their places. The right-winger, Edwards, played brilliantly, in the first half, but he was rather erratic in his crosses in the second half. On the day's play, however, he was Mitchell's superior. Mc-Dowell, Potts, and Rumble were all dangerous inside men."

Robertson a Star.

"The outstanding man in Bris-bane's forward line was Robertson. His most splendid effort was that in the first half, when he raced down the wing, eluded both Warrell and Burns, and let fly with a rousing, long, rising cross shot. The goalie's hands shot upwards to catch the ball, but he was not too sure of it, and it somehow or other fell at his feet.
 Chappell darted forward and bumped the goalie, but Burns rushed in and kicked the ball clear. Ipswich breathed again."

A champion goalkeeper has also been unearthed in Brisbane.
 in the person of Teddy Owen, of Wynnum. His wonderful saves, general coolness, and splendid fielding has been quite a feature of Brisbane club play. It is hoped that he will represent Australia in the tests.

Protestant Churches Association

Well, here we are again, as bright and happy as ever. Also here we hope to stay. At Kearsley on Monday we went under after a good game, 3—0. Referee Crawford was greatly impressed with the play of Park and Beardsmore, who were the Churches' best. Morton had the misfortune to be injured early in the piece. At the match the locals entertained the boys right royally. Gorman and Duprey apparently had a good time, but are liable to suffer for it. Killick was very much off his game. In the early fixture St. Aidans went under to Kearsley Seconds 4—2. Messrs. Meyers and Robinson looked well after the interests of the Church boys.

On Friday, 5th inst., Reg. Hall, of Collins Street, Lakemba, a registered player with Lakemba Congs. B, passed away suddenly.

This paper and the P.C.S.F.A. extends to the bereaved parents and team alike their sincere sympathy and condolence.

Reg. was a fine lad, and the Soccer world will sadly miss him.

At Goulburn against the Southern Districts' Association, we were more successful, winning 2—1. Hyde, of All Souls, was easily the best player on the field. Mr. Manager Bydie reports that Soccer is on the decline at Goulburn, there now being only three teams, where there were originally six.

At Primrose Park the U.J.S. F.A. wiped the floor with us 4—0. The Churches' boys seemed to lose heart after lemon time.

To-day's Matches.

After knocking Alex. Mission A 6—0 last week, Holy Trinity A should have no difficulty in accounting for St. Johns A to-day. However, St. Johns hope to extend them. All Saints A, Alex. Mission A, and Austens should win, but St. Clements might have something to say about it.

It is thought that Lakemba Congs. A, Hurlstone Park Congs., Marrickville Pres. A, and Tempe Park Meth. will win.

The best match of the day will be staged at Botany, when Botany Meth. A meet Campsie Meth. A. Both teams are undefeated, and Ref. Crutchly will be kept moving. If Campsie reproduce last week's form then they are liable to come a horrible thud. However, it is thought whoever wins will need to be all out.

All Souls A and Croydon Congs. A will both be fully extended, but should run out victorious. St. Aidans A will have no trouble in adding two points.

Austens Jnrs. will extend the undefeated St. Thomas A, and might even get a couple of points out of the game. Of course, they might not.

The only match in doubt in 3rd grade B is Hurlstone Park Meth. and Campsie Meth. B. A draw would appear to be an equitable result.

To-night.

Teams are reminded of the dance to be held to-night in the I.O.O.F. Temple, Elizabeth Street City. All teams are urged to support the function, and so improve the finances and also establish that spirit of comradeship for which the Churches are famed.

E. Titterton, Esq.

Mr. E. Titterton has been elected to fill the vacancy on management caused by the retirement of Mr. R. Lewis. Mr. Titterton enjoys the distinction of being at present the youngest member of M.C., although when the competition was inaugurated the Hon. Secretary was only 16 years of age.

Metropolitan Junior Association

LAST WEEK'S MATCHES.

Before a small attendance on Primrose Park last Saturday, City United were able to retain their position at the head of the competition, defeating Fivedock by a margin of seven goals in a one-sided game.

Easton Park have now been supplanted at the head of the A Grade by Lilyfield, who are still undefeated, only losing one point to Newtown; this game was the early fixture at headquarters, and was keenly fought right through. Froome, of Easton Park, repeatedly saved his side, being ably supported by Morrison. Watson and Urquhart were the outstanding players of Lilyfield. Lilyfield ran out winners one to nil, Menzies being the scorer.

Through Banksmeadow being defeated by Lilyfield 5 to 1 at Booralee, Lilyfield and Rozelle Waratahs share honors at the head of the table, each only suffering one defeat.

In C Grade, Division 1, Annandale Waratahs are at the head of the competition, owing to Rozelle Waratahs defeating Lilyfield one nil after a keen game.

Botany Recs. in C Grade, Division 2, are still going strong on top, their tally now being 31 goals against 4 scored in 7 matches.

Clubs note that in compiling competition table, no points are allotted for the bye.

Kenny, of City United, was taken to hospital suffering from slight concussion through an injury in the first half.

Fivedock are to be complimented for their sportsmanship in allowing a reserve to take his place.

The A, B and C grade teams have completed their 1st round series of matches, and the positions in the different competitions indicates a very close and exciting finish. Lilyfield United, by its victory over Easton Park (1—0) is leading in the A Grade by one point from the latter team. The leaders have not suffered defeat, and have recorded a 1—1 draw with Newtown; the Park team has one defeat. The goal records—Lilyfield 22—7, Easton Park 18—3, proves that both teams have a solid defence; the attacking forces are very even.

Alexandria and Newtown are the next highest teams.

Sunlight have still to win 2 match, although they held the Park team down to 2—1 decision.

In the B grade, there were prior to last Saturday 3 teams level for top place, but subsequent results removes one team from the top.

Rozelle beat Annandale Federals after a very good game by the narrow margin of 2—1, and can consider themselves fortunate to gain the points.

Lilyfield, at Booralee Park, outclassed Banksmeadow by 5—1.

Rozelle and Lilyfield are now on the top with 12 points each; both teams having suffered one defeat, and have a goal record of 19—5 each.

Leichhardt have still to get a move on in the way of a win. Apparently its forward line is weak, as only 4 goals have been netted.

The competition table a couple of weeks ago showed Lilyfield, Rozelle, and Wentworth Juniors at the head of affairs in the C Grade, Division 1. The two latest results have brought about a slight change; now Wentworth Juniors stand alone 3 points ahead of Lilyfield and Rozelle. The Juniors have not been defeated so far, but have had some narrow escapes.

Rozelle beat Lilyfield by 1—0 after a very good match. Its goal was a breakaway from centre. It was the only occasion that they—the Rozelle boys—reached their opponent's goals.

The game was not devoid of roughness, and Rozelle were repeatedly penalised for illegal charging. For the winners Foley (goalkeeper), and McMahon were the best players, while Sym and Cattnach shone out for the losers.

In Division 2 Botany Rechabites still lead by 2 points from Alexandria, and can be expected as one of the contestants for the ultimate final.

Of all the associations in the metropolitan area, our association has the least publicity in the direction of results of matches. Ring up B 6021 and ask for Mr. West; it is no trouble, and have your result in whether you win or lose.

ASSOCIATION CUP.

8th inst., M.J.S. P.C.S.F.A. on Primrose Park last Saturday, 4 goals to nil. Churches' with a great rush, and in the first few minutes, was safe. Metropolitan Churches' territorial anxiousness and spoilt many scorers' opportunities. Half time the scores 1 nil in half Metrop. were leading, and increased to 3 goals, while Churches' pierce the defence, through the spoiling tactics of Metrop. halves, and Churches' out-half were players. Kay 2, Hurthly were Metrop's.

FINANCIAL SIDE.

English Tour.

The financial success of the tour seems assured, for in the 10 matches played the gross takings total nearly £9500, which will be applied to liquidate the estimated expenditure of £18,000. The estimated cost of the tour is compiled on a basis which permits of gross gates (included in which are tax ground rent and other incidentals) being utilised as an off-set to the expenditure. To date the receipts are well over the average required. The test games are yet to be played, the first of which takes place in Brisbane on June 27th, the second at Sydney on July 4th, the third at Maitland on July 11th, the fourth at Sydney on July 18th, and the fifth at Melbourne on July 25th.

The Hon. Hugh D. McIntosh, M.L.C., has been a power of assistance to Soccer officials during the past couple of weeks, and his efforts are greatly appreciated. He intends to present to players of both teams which played on May 30th, a special bronze medal which is being specially made in Paris, as a souvenir of the occasion.

EASTERN SUBURBS ASSOCIATION.

The first round in the A competition is now finished. Bondi Beach is to be congratulated on its unbeaten record.

In the B Grade competition Bondi Waratahs is also unbeaten although Bondi Beach is playing closely.

The three competitions are a very interesting stage, some changes may be expected before the end of the season.

Our representative team has given a very creditable performance Monday against Granville, although beaten were by no means disgraced.

Cup Donated.

It is very pleasant to be able to report that Mr. S. H. H. great enthusiast and supporter of junior football, has donated a cup for the C Grade competition to be known as the "Dunscar Cup".

The dinner given to the English team on the night of the 3rd by the Eastern Suburbs was the best, by a long way, kind to date in Australia. E.S. officials deserve great credit for their efforts to make a wonderful success of it.

THE "BACK IN THE ATTACK" AND THE FORWARD IN THE REAR"

Frank Hudspeth, Newcastle United's Captain.

Here's an old Soccer yarn, the most of you have heard, of the man who had very little of the game, but thought he was not. Someone in a crowd remarked to him that a certain player was "back in the forward line."

"Quoth bumptious Hudspeth, "Absurd! How can I have a back in the forward line?"

His bowler hat was squashed over his ears.

"Quite right too. He doesn't know, and I expect that the spectator thinks that there is quite a lot of sense in that idea of the forward line. Sounds like there it is!"

His remarks are going to the inside forwards, so they go to heart. If you take them, it'll mean more work for lots of it—but you must mind that. After all, they turn out on Saturday for a rest-cure!

There are moments in every game the defence, be it good, is hard pressed—just at the breaking point. The inside backs have been drawn in like a gallop, dancing like a bunch of bricks—badly outnumbered—there seems to be no one left—unless it is that back in the forward line, that hard-working inside forward, who has been asked to help in defence.

It's a live wire that man who may come and has to be ready for an attack. He has seen the danger, and the harassed inside forward, then he's out running.

There's no leather to hinder him, he goes faster than the wind. He's back and, like a blue, he's down on the ground when they least expect him in their way. They are surprised and lose valuable moments which enable the backs to regain their positions, and cover the goal—and so a glorious chance is snatched away.

Thanks to that back from the forward line.

He's put in some hard graft, but hasn't it been worth it! Never mind that exhausting race back; never mind the trouble of having to return upfield—possibly at double time if the other forwards receive the ball. That man's done useful work, he's saved his side.

"Well played, sir!" Can't you hear 'em?

John Duncan, the Leicester inside right, is a player, who's fond of that stunt. He doesn't lead an easy life. He's always on the spot, in an endeavour to save the Leicester citadel. And yet, he's never missing when needed in the forward line. Six goals in a single match goes to prove that, doesn't it.

Jimmy Seed, of the Spurs, is another of 'em! They're two of the best and they know what's what about football.

Mind you, you're not to go rambling about all over the place! No man has a right to a roving commission. But watch any team of repute when their goal is being raided. Halves and backs are defending. Wing men and centre forward are waiting upfield for any clearing kick that may develop. The inside men are in their correct positions—about half way back to goal.

It's when he's in that position that the inside forward should be ready to do a little back work. He must watch, and if his help is needed, he must get off the mark and lend it. Zip! Streak of lightning! Like that!

Keep your position as long as you can certainly—but if things get drastic, you must take drastic measures.

Take my word for it, you inside men'll often save your sides if you become backs from the forward line.

Good goalies are more plentiful in Sydney than anywhere else in New South Wales or Australia for that matter. Cartwright, Atchison, Anderson, and Bailey are all high class, and then follow Simmonds, Davidson, Evans, Manson, Verity, and others too numerous to mention.

DO YOU KNOW THAT.

It is hoped that the Governor-General will officially welcome the English and the Australian teams as they file on the Show Ground on July 4th, to do battle for the second test match.

In both the New Zealand and Canadian test matches played in Brisbane, the Australian team was successful. If we are similarly favored in the first test in Brisbane on June 27th, then we should get bumper gates for the remaining series of games.

Les Honeysett, himself a good player, and the Secretary of the Tasmanian Council, writes to say that Faulkner, the fine Tasmanian left full back, is available for all or any of the test matches.

Billy Mitchell, the brilliant Queensland right winger, is right at the top of his form just now, and a candidate for test match honors.

Harry Spurway, who played such a fine game on both May 30th and June 8th, is not available for the test match in Queensland.

H. Maunder and W. Maunder, of West Wallsend, who have both been on the injured list, are turning out for the Northern Districts against the Englishmen on Saturday.

It is nearly a certainty that both will be selected for the first test match at Brisbane if they are physically fit, and display last year's sparkling form.

Bill Maunder received his injury in the Australian game against the Englishmen at Melbourne, and has not played since.

Percy Lennard, the Cessnock inside right, is displaying good club form at the present time. Lennard certainly has the temperament for big games, and probably his worst display in a big game was that on May 30th.

It was a terrible misfortune for New South Wales to lose the services of Cartwright, but it will be a greater disappointment should he not be able to field for Australia in Brisbane.
